Dust jacket

ISBN: 978-1-4243-1164-4

First printing: 1500

This book is the end result of Daniel's efforts in collecting, discovering and restoring material depicting the rich cultural heritage of the Carolina Beach area. Volume 1 contains historic imagery and text detailing the founding of Carolina Beach and the people, buildings and cultural icons that have shaped the community through the years. Daniel was inspired by the necessity to collect and preserve these images and by the desire to share them with the public. Production of the book is nearly complete. The first printing will be available by the end of November 2006.

About the Author: Daniel Ray Norris

Although this is Daniel's first book, it is not his first publication. He wrote his share of scientific documents and publications while he was pursuing degrees in Biology and Tropical Marine Ecology. His articles have appeared in the peer reviewed journals, Ecology, The Journal of the Elisha Mitchell Scientific Society of North Carolina, Galaxea and Veliger. He has been actively involved in preparing material for the NC Azalea Festival and the Princess Pageant. While Production Manager at WECT-TV6, he wrote, shot and edited commercials and promotional spots for broadcast. He was also webmaster for the first, local internet service provider in Wilmington. Daniel is a teacher, avid photographer, graphic designer and lives in Carolina Beach on the intracoastal waterway, where he considers it to be "The Best Place on Earth".
